

Statement on the use of course material in IN3000 and IN4000

The examination process for the courses IN3000 and IN4000 consists of grades received for project assignments, each constituting a part of the final grade for the course. For that reason, the following will be considered as cheating and handled according to the regulations determined by the Faculty of mathematics and natural sciences:

1. Giving away code (in either electronic or/and paper form), developed in relation with assignments, to students other than the ones in the project-group.
2. Copying whole or partial solutions to the assignments developed by other project-groups or students other than the ones in the project-group.
3. Giving away/distributing code or course material to persons not enrolled in IN3000 or IN4000 this semester, with the exception of course leadership and teaching assistants.
4. All text and code in the deliverables that is not produced by the project-group is clearly identified in the deliverable with the source according to scientific standards.

For the above reasons, all students must fill in and sign the following statement and hand it in within the due date for the first mandatory assignment.

I, ROLF VIAR MAZUNKI HOKSAAS (full name, block letters), username rolf_vh,

hereby affirm that I will follow the regulations for the usage of course material and solutions for the IN3000/4000 assignments developed by the abovementioned course's leadership.
